Why These Brands

Smart Search

Louisiana and Baton Rouge, LA because LSU Is In Baton Rouge and everyone goes crazy for LSU In Louisiana. NY Media Market as her home In New Jersey Is a suburb of NYC

PSD Is a really popular brand that has numerous deals with athletes and allows each athlete to have a custom design. This would allow Livvy to bring In her love of fashion design to a trending company. They also already have a deal with another LSU athlete.

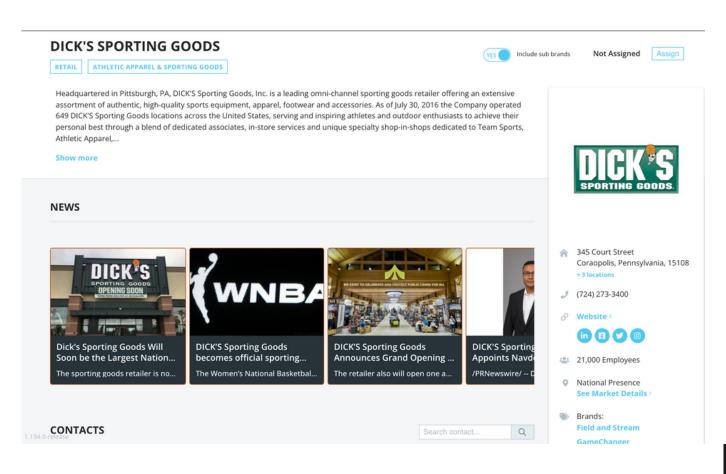

Geaux Flow IV Spa Is a local spa to baton rouge and already have a deal with another athlete. The spa would be a good partner as she has done multiple live streams showing off her skin care and makeup routines

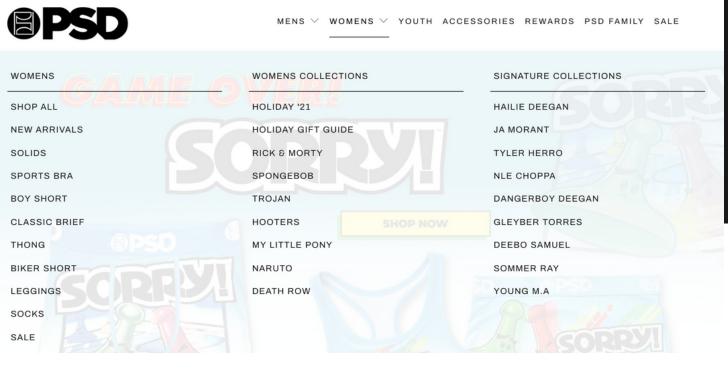

A Louisiana local brand, Bayou apparel would allow Livvy to support a local company and they are also the largest local licensee for LSU apparel and have created multiple designs for LSU Athletics in the past. This would also allow Livvy to make her custom merch with LSU trademarks.

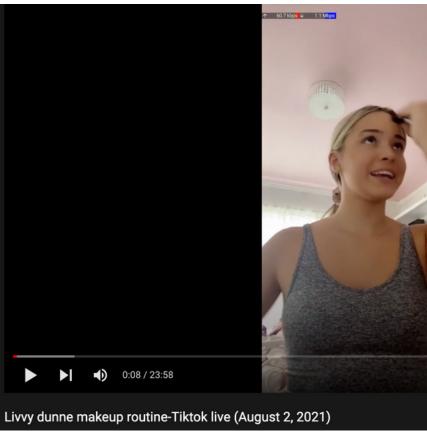

Livvy Is constantly posting photos In swimsuits so allowing her to partner with a swimwear company makes perfect sense. While they don't have any deals with athletes other than aquatic and crossfit, they do have deals In the Northeast region and would give them a face of their brand.

I love fashion design. I especially enjoy participating in the design of my custom leotards. I get to work on everything from the original sketches to fabric selection with my coach, Jen. It is so exciting when the finished designs win leotard contests and online polls. I love to see my ideas come to life.

Dick's Is the one stop spot for all athletic equipment. While not many places carry gymnastics equipment, Dick's does. I think that Dick's would be a great spot to sell Livvy's custom Leotards. They also have deals with many professional athletes and Livvy would give them their collegiate face.

I would have also Included an athleisure brand (Fabletics) but she already has an athleisure deal with Vuori
